Enter to Learn, Leave to Succeed

Fortune Institute of International Business

Course Name

Marketing in Practice

Topic

Marketing on the Move: Decoding STP in the Real World (Mall Immersion Team Project)

Submitted by –

Aparajita Singh (25PGDM064)

Arjun Yadav (25PGDM065)

Daksha Kapil (25PGDM071)

Devansh Mishra (25PGDM074)

Harshita Singh (25PGDM080)

Sajal Gautam (25PGDM100)

Submitted to-

Dr Sahiba Sahny

Introduction

The purpose of this report is to understand the Segmentation, Targeting, and Positioning (STP) strategies of three globally recognized brands— Da Milano, Hamleys, Taco Bell through a field visit to Ambience Mall, Delhi. The mall visit gave us a chance to interact with staff, watch how customer behaved, and note down key insights about pricing, customer focus, product categories, and store strategies. This hands-on exercise bridges theoretical understanding of STP with real-world application.

Field Notes

- Da Milano: As accessible luxury brand and having a conversation with a sales representative, they cater the crowd who falls under the category of upper middle income and above. They basically prefer their handbags and clutches marking them as their core product.
- Taco Bell: As a bold innovative, they provide experience, memories, where love to hangout and reconnect with friends. Their most preferred product is their veg and chicken tacos.
- Hamleys: As a experiential retail, Hamleys are known for their unforgettable memories and their interactive and creative approach. After having one on one conversation with their sales representative we got to know that it is preferred by the people of all age groups for fun and playful moments.

STP Analysis: Da Milano

Da Milano is a leading Indian brand established in 1989, renowned for its premium, accessible luxury leather accessories. It offers a diverse range of Italian-designed handbags, wallets, and travel goods for men and women. The brand boasts a significant retail presence with over 100 exclusive outlets across 25+ Indian cities, including prime mall locations, high streets, and airports, alongside a growing international footprint.

Segmentation	Targeting	Positioning
Da Milano is for individuals who adore fashion and wish to feel excellent without paying astronomical amounts for high-end brands. It's for those who enjoy high-quality pieces infused with some Italian flair and view their accessories as indicative of their own success and refinement. It focuses on Indian metros, tier cities, with on ongoing international expansion.	Its staff, focused niche targeting approach, whose main emphasis is on "affordable luxury" consumer. Age – upper middle to high income individual age 25 to 55 for its main line, for age 18-35 reaching through Wooba	It positioning focuses on an offering modern Italian style and higher craftsmanship at a luxury price. It also positions itself fashion ahead and trendy, introducing many new products each year with striking colours.

STP Analysis: Hamleys

Hamleys, the world's oldest and most iconic toy retailer, established in London in 1760, is synonymous with magical, experiential play. Renowned for its vibrant in-store demonstrations, extensive range of premium toys, and commitment to inspiring imagination, Hamleys offers an unparalleled retail experience. In India, Hamleys has established a significant footprint, operating numerous stores across major urban centres and metropolitan cities, typically located in high-end malls and bustling commercial areas.

Segmentation	Targeting	Positioning
It advertises mainly by going after upper middle to high income households with kids ages 0-14 whose parents and grandparents are primary buyers It targets urban and metro Politian regions around the world with high presence in upscale malls and tourist areas. It serves clients who want entertainment, novelty and learning.	Its workers diversified targeting strategy aimed at the premium toy market. Its core target is wealthy parents and grandparents and their kids. Secondary is tourist and gift sporadic giver, attracted by its name brand unique products major urban area. Its distinct need of both adults (quality and safety) and children (fun and novelty). within their experiential retail space.	Hamleys repositions itself as "a magical, interactive world of premium toys and unparalleled joy". It rides on its famous British tradition and reputation as "the finest toy shop in the world" The heart of its strategy is experiential retail converting store to interactive destination through live demonstration and play areas.

STP Analysis: Taco Bell

Taco Bell is a multinational fast-food restaurant chain founded in 1962 by Glen Bell in Downey, California. It serves a variety of Mexican-inspired foods, such as tacos, burritos, quesadillas, and nachos. A subsidiary of Yum! Brands, Taco Bell is a major player in the global fast-food market with over 8,200 restaurants worldwide. It is known for its "Live Más" brand philosophy and for being a youthful, craveable, and affordable brand.

Segmentation	Targeting	Positioning
It markets primarily by targeting young, value-conscious and adventurous eaters. It focuses on millennial and Genz 18–34-year-old who are either students or early	Its targeting strategy is sharp, concentrated approach aimed squarely at “Young value seeking Adventurous eaters” predominantly millennials and Gen z.	It positions itself as a go to quick service restaurant “Bold innovative Mexican inspired flavours at an unbeatable value, Delivered within Irreverent and Youthful brand personality”.

career stages with budget conscious. They appeal to those within on the go playful and non-conformist lifestyle who crave bold, unique Mexican inspired flavour.	This group is specifically chosen for their high receptiveness to bold, innovative Mexican inspired flavours. It effectively tailors its menu innovations &value offerings.	Its product and price are amplified by its playful, non-conformist marketing that deeply resonates with its young, adventurous target audience. It makes the brand synonyms with “Live Mas”- an experience beyond just a meal.

Comparative Insights Across Brands

These three brands demonstrate distinct, effective strategies:

1. Target Audience: Each brand precisely targets a specific demographic: Da Milano focuses on aspirational urban consumers and professionals. Hamleys on families seeking experiential play. Taco Bell on young, value-seeking, adventurous eaters.
2. Core Differentiator: Da Milano wins with "accessible luxury" (Italian design, quality, value). Hamleys thrives on "experiential retail" (magical, interactive in-store experiences). Taco Bell dominates with "bold, innovative Mexican-inspired flavours and unbeatable value" backed by a youthful brand.
3. Positioning Strategy: Their positioning is clear: Da Milano as quality-driven, accessible Italian style. Hamleys as the ultimate world of toy wonder. Taco Bell as exciting, affordable, unconventional food.
4. USPs: Da Milano leverages its lifetime warranty and fast-fashion luxury. Hamleys relies on live demonstrations and heritage. Taco Bell uses menu innovation and aggressive value pricing.

In essence, their success lies in deeply understanding their niche and building strong, differentiated brands that offer unique value beyond just the product.

Our Reflection as a Marketing Student: What made Positioning strong or weak?

As a marketing student, reflecting on Da Milano, Hamleys, and Taco Bell's positioning strategies offers valuable insights into what drives brand strength.

- Da Milano's positioning as "accessible luxury" is particularly strong; it cleverly combines aspirational Italian design and quality (backed by a lifetime warranty) with attainable price points, effectively filling a market gap for value-conscious yet discerning consumers.
- Hamleys' power lies in its "experiential retail," selling not just toys but a magical, interactive world that creates unforgettable memories, a clear differentiator against online and discount competitors.

- Taco Bell's positioning is robust through its "bold, innovative, Mexican-inspired Flavors at unbeatable value" delivered with an irreverent, youthful brand personality that deeply resonates with its target demographic.

From a critical perspective, potential weaknesses are subtle:

- Da Milano might face the challenge of maintaining perceived luxury if "accessible" is stretched too thin or if its "fast fashion" approach dilutes long-term value.
- Hamleys, while strong experientially, could find the high operational costs and the challenge of consistently replicating that "magic" across all physical and digital touchpoints a hurdle.
- Taco Bell, while innovative, constantly battles the perception of authenticity for its Mexican-inspired cuisine and the broader fast-food health stigma.

Ultimately, all three demonstrate that strong positioning hinges on a clear, differentiated, and consistently delivered value proposition that deeply understands and connects with its target audience.

References

Da Milano Official Website: https://www.damilano.com/

Hamleys Official Website: https://www.hamleys.in/

Taco Bell Official Website: https://www.tacobell.com/

https://digitofy.com/blog/da-milano-marketing-strategy/

Product Monk: "Hamley's Rs.160 Crore Revenue: Getting High-End Shoppers Hooked" https://www.productmonk.io/p/hamleys-success

FIIB

DrillBit

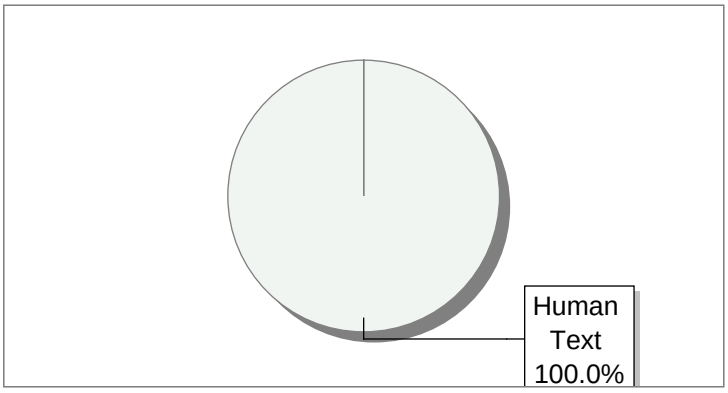

The Report is Generated by DrillBit AI Content Detection Software

Submission Information

Author Name	arjun yadav
Title	MIP
Paper/Submission ID	4278625
Submitted By	drillbit18@fiib.edu.in
Submission Date	2025-08-25 19:08:14
Total Pages	6
Document type	Assignment

Result Information

AI Text: 0 %

Disclaimer:

* The content detection system employed here is powered by artificial intelligence (AI) technology.
* Its not always accurate and only help to author identify text that might be prepared by a AI tool.
* It is designed to assist in identifying & moderating content that may violate community guidelines/legal regulations, it may not be perfect.

Fortune Institute of International Business Course Name Marketing in Practice Topic Marketing on the Move: Decoding STP in the Real World (Mall Immersion Team Project) Submitted by – Aparajita Singh (25PGDM064) Arjun Yadav (25PGDM065) Daksha Kapil (25PGDM071) Devansh Mishra (25PGDM074) Harshita Singh (25PGDM080) Sajal Gautam (25PGDM100) Submitted to- Dr Sahiba Sahny Introduction The purpose of this report is to understand the Segmentation, Targeting, and Positioning (STP) strategies of three globally recognized brands Da Milano, Hamleys, Taco Bell through a field visit to Ambience Mall, Delhi.
The mall visit gave us a chance to interact with staff, watch how customer behaved, and note down key insights about pricing, customer focus, product categories, and store strategies.
This hands-on exercise bridges theoretical understanding of STP with real-world application.
Field Notes • Da Milano: As accessible luxury brand and having a conversation with a sales representative, they cater the crowd who falls under the category of upper middle income and above.
They basically prefer their handbags and clutches marking them as their core product.
• Taco Bell: As a bold innovative, they provide experience, memories, where love to hangout and reconnect with friends.
Their most preferred product is their veg and chicken tacos.
• Hamleys: As a experiential retail, Hamleys are known for their unforgettable memories and their interactive and creative approach.
After having one on one conversation with their sales representative we got to know that it is preferred by the people of all age groups for fun and playful moments.
STP Analysis: Da Milano Da Milano is a leading Indian brand established in 1989, renowned for its premium, accessible luxury leather accessories.
It offers a diverse range of Italian-designed handbags, wallets, and travel goods for men and women.
The brand boasts a significant retail presence with over 100 exclusive outlets across 25+ Indian cities, including prime mall locations, high streets, and airports, alongside a growing international footprint.
Segmentation Targeting Positioning Da Milano is for individuals who adore fashion and wish to feel excellent without paying astronomical amounts for high- end brands.
It's for those who enjoy high-quality pieces infused with some Italian flair and view their accessories as indicative of their own success and refinement.
It focuses on Indian metros, tier cities, with on ongoing international expansion.
Its staff, focused niche targeting approach, whose main emphasis is on "affordable luxury" consumer.
Age – upper middle to high income individual age 25 to 55 for its main line, for age 18-35 reaching through Wooba It positioning focuses on an offering modern Italian style and higher craftsmanship at a luxury price.
It also positions itself fashion ahead and trendy, introducing many new products each year with striking colours.
STP Analysis: Hamleys Hamleys, the world's oldest and most iconic toy retailer, established in London in 1760, is synonymous with magical, experiential play.
Renowned for its vibrant in-store demonstrations, extensive range of premium toys, and commitment to inspiring imagination, Hamleys offers an unparalleled retail experience.
In India, Hamleys has established a significant footprint, operating numerous stores across major urban centres and metropolitan cities, typically located in high-end malls and bustling commercial areas.
Segmentation Targeting Positioning It advertises mainly by going after upper middle to high income households with kids ages 0-14 whose parents and grandparents are primary buyers It targets urban and metro Politian regions around the world with high presence in upscale malls and tourist areas.
It serves clients who want entertainment, novelty and learning.
Its workers diversified targeting strategy aimed at the premium toy market.
Its core target is wealthy parents and grandparents and their kids.
Secondary is tourist and gift sporadic giver, attracted by its name brand unique products major urban area.
Its distinct need of both adults (quality and safety) and children (fun and novelty).
within their experiential retail space.
Hamleys repositions itself as "a magical, interactive world of premium toys and unparalleled joy".
It rides on its famous British tradition and reputation as "the finest toy shop in the world" The heart of its strategy is experiential retail converting store to interactive destination through live demonstration and play areas.
STP Analysis: Taco Bell Taco Bell is a multinational fast-food restaurant chain founded in 1962 by Glen Bell in Downey, California.

It serves a variety of Mexican-inspired foods, such as tacos, burritos, quesadillas, and nachos.
A subsidiary of Yum! Brands, Taco Bell is a major player in the global fast-food market with over 8,200 restaurants worldwide.
It is known for its "Live Más" brand philosophy and for being a youthful, craveable, and affordable brand.
Segmentation Targeting Positioning It markets primarily by targeting young, value- conscious and adventurous eaters.
It focuses on millennial and Genz 18–34-year-old who are either students or early career stages with budget conscious.
They appeal to those within on the go playful and non- Its targeting strategy is sharp, concentrated approach aimed squarely at “Young value seeking Adventurous eaters” predominantly millennials and Gen z.
This group is specifically chosen for their high receptiveness to bold, It positions itself as a go to quick service restaurant “Bold innovative Mexican inspired flavours at an unbeatable value, Delivered within Irreverent and Youthful brand personality”.
Its product and price are amplified by its playful, non- conformist marketing that deeply resonates with its conformist lifestyle who crave bold, unique Mexican inspired flavour.
innovative Mexican inspired flavours.
It effectively tailors its menu innovations &value offerings.
young, adventurous target audience.
It makes the brand synonyms with “Live Mas”- an experience beyond just a meal.
Comparative Insights Across Brands These three brands demonstrate distinct, effective strategies: Target Audience: Each brand precisely targets a specific demographic: Da Milano focuses on aspirational urban consumers and professionals.
Hamleys on families seeking experiential play.
Taco Bell on young, value-seeking, adventurous eaters.
Core Differentiator: Da Milano wins with "accessible luxury" (Italian design, quality, value).
Hamleys thrives on "experiential retail" (magical, interactive in-store experiences).
Taco Bell dominates with "bold, innovative Mexican-inspired flavours and unbeatable value" backed by a youthful brand.
Positioning Strategy: Their positioning is clear: Da Milano as quality-driven, accessible Italian style.
Hamleys as the ultimate world of toy wonder.
Taco Bell as exciting, affordable, unconventional food.
USPs: Da Milano leverages its lifetime warranty and fast-fashion luxury.
Hamleys relies on live demonstrations and heritage.
Taco Bell uses menu innovation and aggressive value pricing.
In essence, their success lies in deeply understanding their niche and building strong, differentiated brands that offer unique value beyond just the product.
Our Reflection as a Marketing Student: What made Positioning strong or weak? As a marketing student, reflecting on Da Milano, Hamleys, and Taco Bell's positioning strategies offers valuable insights into what drives brand strength.
• Da Milano's positioning as "accessible luxury" is particularly strong; it cleverly combines aspirational Italian design and quality (backed by a lifetime warranty) with attainable price points, effectively filling a market gap for value-conscious yet discerning consumers.
• Hamleys' power lies in its "experiential retail," selling not just toys but a magical, interactive world that creates unforgettable memories, a clear differentiator against online and discount competitors.
• Taco Bell's positioning is robust through its "bold, innovative, Mexican-inspired Flavors at unbeatable value" delivered with an irreverent, youthful brand personality that deeply resonates with its target demographic.
From a critical perspective, potential weaknesses are subtle: • Da Milano might face the challenge of maintaining perceived luxury if "accessible" is stretched too thin or if its "fast fashion" approach dilutes long-term value.
• Hamleys, while strong experientially, could find the high operational costs and the challenge of consistently replicating that "magic" across all physical and digital touchpoints a hurdle.
• Taco Bell, while innovative, constantly battles the perception of authenticity for its Mexican-inspired cuisine and the broader fast-food health stigma.

Ultimately, all three demonstrate that strong positioning hinges on a clear, differentiated, and consistently delivered value proposition that deeply understands and connects with its target audience.